

December 2009

PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Tony Calvert
Marketing Officer

Brand New Website Design and Creative Elements

Ellettsville, IN - Tree Management Systems Inc. (TMS) has recently redesigned their website to showcase their products and services. The new look comes after carefully considering how to streamline their internet site and add more visibility to their already successful software programs.

The new creative look of their website has an elegant flair that is accented by green colors and hues that coincide with their target market, which is tree care, lawn care and landscape companies. It screams green and has been designed with very user friendly functionality. The new site has over 25 new pages of information about the company, the employees, their products and services, plus much much more.

A lot of the new items on their website are represented by custom made icons that reflect the essence of each product or service being offered. The end user can get a sense of what they are linking on by seeing this graphic and the small introduction of text that is next to each icon.

"We feel that customers are going to like the new design," Tony Calvert says. And Donna Garner, principal of the company said, "It reflects our core values of professionalism and our commitment to bring the best products and services to not only our current client base, but new ones as well."

Check out the new website design at www.treemanagement.net and see for yourself the changes we have made and all the new features we have integrated for our customers.